BASE ARCHITECTURE

The Royal Australian Institute of Architects has presented the 2010 Brisbane Regional House of the Year Award to Stonehawk by BASE Architecture. The jury found that "against the trend, this house embraces multiple use rather than multiplicity of space". Recently developed, there are 29 lots in total, each benefiting from a sensitive approach to the surrounds. From natural overland flow and stormwater control to flora- and fauna-friendly fencing, this innovative enclave invites the inhabitants to enjoy the lifestyle.
